Join us to make a difference to wellness in coastal Lincolnshire

We have been supporting people to live well in Lincolnshire for more than 25 years. We know the challenges people are facing and have the ambition to want to find solutions to help.

We know how the rural and coastal communities we work in are statistically some of the most deprived in the country – economically and in terms of health. People often feel stuck due to the lack of services available to them.

We're on a mission to change that and as a likeminded organisation sharing many of the same goals, we want you to join us.

We are partnering with East Lindsey District Council to become the operator of the new Campus for Future Living in Mablethorpe.

This £8.6m site with purpose-built facilities will act as a catalyst for change, with exciting possibilities for collaboration between the public, private and voluntary sectors cutting across many different areas – including health, housing, education and employability.

We're calling on our existing and potential partners to come together, turning these challenges into solutions and placing the Lincolnshire coast at the epicentre of health, care and wellness excellence.

Fusing support, innovation and research with services for the community, the Campus will provide a space to act as a beacon for change and promote new approaches to wellness.

We will be working collaboratively and to the benefit of the local community to place Lincolnshire at the forefront of learning, research and enterprise as the country aims to tackle its healthcare challenges head on.

The 16,000sq/m site features flexible space for learning and development, research, workspaces for local businesses, meeting spaces, landscaped gardens and accommodation. It will also serve up communal space for the local community and a social enterprise café.

We'll be welcoming our first long-term tenants in the building in early 2025, and we're holding a series of open engagement events in August and September to showcase these exciting opportunities within the building.
