

November 2020 Research Update

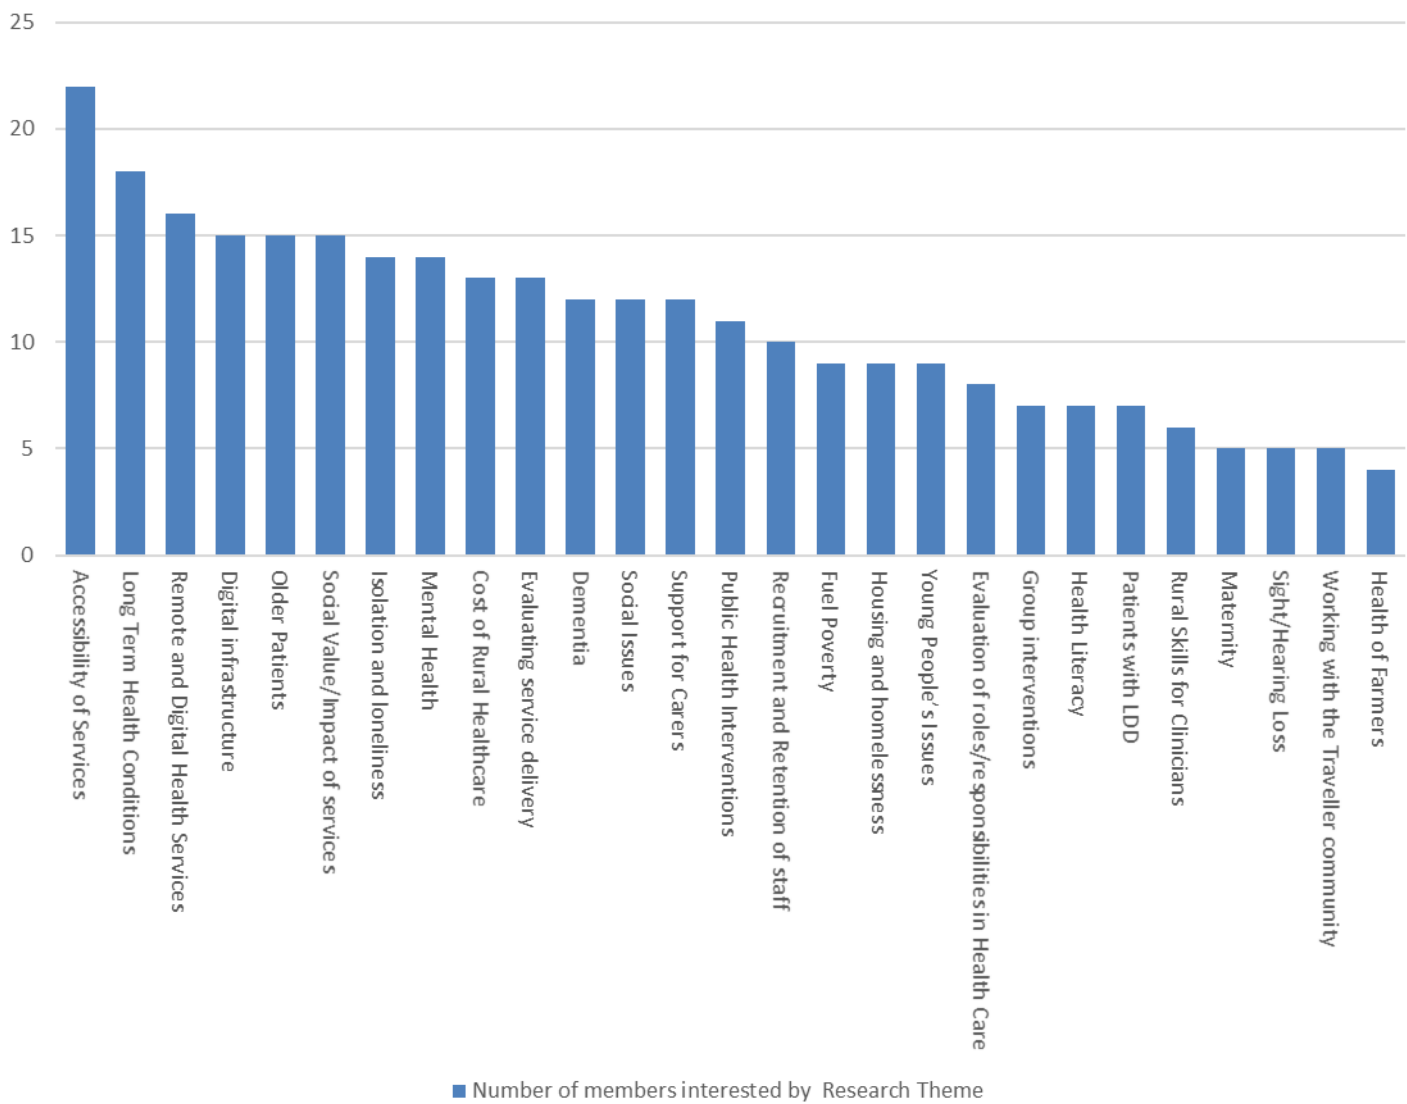

Members Research Interests Survey

A big thank you to the member organisations that have taken part in our Members' Interests Survey.

The results from this so far show that the three most common areas of interest are accessibility of services, long term health conditions and remote and digital health services. There is a large overlap of research interests in many other areas, including mental health, the cost of rural healthcare, digital infrastructure, evaluating social impact, and in supporting older service users. The results are shown in the graph below and have also been formatted into a matrix table so that members can find out which other members share their interests. The NCRHC is always very happy link up members where there may be opportunities for collaboration or shared learning, so please get in touch if you would like us to facilitate an introduction. The NCRHC's intention going forward is to pilot the use of online forums where members with related interests can network and share information. We hope to have the first of these forums up and running by December, so please look out for emails inviting you to join.

The NCRHC members research interests survey remains live, and will do so until the end of the year, so please register your interests if you haven't already done so: NCRHC Member Interests Survey . Any updates will be shared with the membership in the New Year.
