9. RSP Plans for the year ahead (Link to the presentation here)

Presentation by Chair of RSP – Nik Harwood

NH outlined plans for the coming year and confirmed that the Rural Lens documents would continue as they provided a good distillation of detailed government policy. The on-line Seminar programme had been well received again with more delegates attending than before and an opportunity to build your own network.

Key issues will be the next General Election by January 2025 and trying to influence political party manifestos, reminding policy makers of the vulnerability of rural areas and making the rural voice heard.

Action: NH asked the membership to let RSP know if there was something they would like considered that we are not covering currently or want to see less of.

CG asked if there could be an education focus in either a seminar and/or the Conference as she has grave concerns re how fractured Health and Education provision is. CG is very happy to be involved with this. KB added that there is room in the seminar programme to have “hot topics” and will look into this.

BK encouraged more collaborative partnership working because as a Utility company, she has great difficulty getting messages into communities on how they can support their customers with financial help and the Priorities Services Register (PSR). GB informed her that Rural England CIC, with its Research Panel, is looking at 2-3 categories of need from the PSR to find out what the real issues are for these people.

JG raised the issue of the Public Switched Telephone Network (PSTN) switch over in 2025. KB reassured her that we sit on the BT Digital Voice Advisory Group to ensure that the impact on rural areas is understood. The switch over to telephone lines being connected through broadband was delayed earlier this year so that BT could fully take into account the impact on all residents. KB and JG to discuss further.

GB noted that a “Rural Asks” document will be produced for all main political parties. It will be a short, sharp and to-the-point document. There will also be background evidence and beneficial outcomes. We will be asking the wider membership for their input and for case studies.

Action: RSP needs qualitative data of people’s lived experiences i.e. what is making them vulnerable, isolated etc. Please send your case studies through.

10. Future on-line meeting dates and seminars 2023
